15 Million Accesses: A Trajectory of Excellence and Commitment to Pediatrics

Marilene Crispino[1], Clemax Sant'Anna[1]

We begin 2026 celebrating a remarkable milestone: surpassing 15 million accesses, a result that reaffirms the relevance of Residência Pediátrica as a scientific electronic journal committed to quality, continuous updating, and the dissemination of knowledge in Pediatrics. This achievement is the outcome of a cohesive, engaged team aligned around shared goals, which over time has consolidated serious, ethical, and consistent work, always focused on the needs of residents, preceptors, and other professionals in the field.

Over the past four years, the journal has advanced significantly. We have expanded national and international reach, strengthened publication frequency and regularity, diversified scientific and educational content formats, improved editorial processes, and consolidated strategic partnerships. These advances have contributed to greater visibility, credibility, and academic impact for Residência Pediátrica, making it an increasingly solid reference in pediatric training.

As we approach the end of this editorial term, scheduled for May, it is essential to acknowledge the achievements attained and, above all, the legacy built: a structured, modern journal with firm foundations for continuity and growth. We remain confident that the next steps will sustain the commitment to scientific excellence, editorial innovation, and the mission of actively contributing to education and continuing professional development in Pediatrics. To all who have been—and continue to be—part of this journey, we extend our recognition and gratitude.

Our purpose is the present, preparing the future!
