Walking

Residência Pediátrica ends 2017 with positive points and perspectives to grow. Scientific journals in electronic format are relatively recent and therefore always sensitive to updating and progress.

Recently, two RP publishers attended to the ABEC Meeting 2017 in Curitiba in November 2017. The Associação brasileira de editores científicos (ABEC) [Brazilian Association of Scientific Editors] provided a moment of reflection on various aspects of newspaper publishing (1). Incidentally, the periodicity of the journals was an important point of the debate: is it possible to employ continuous flow in journals while maintaining their quality? Other points were very timely presentations: indexations, peer review, journal continuity and other aspects. From this meeting, with satisfaction on the path traveled by RP to the present (various indexations, publication in more than one language, improvement of the revision system and increase of the number of original articles, were positive points achieved). In 2018 continues the process of maintenance of what was achieved and update and innovation of the magazine.

The focus is the Pediatrics and related areas resident. The goal is to reach out to more readers and authors in the coming years.

Happy 2018 for everyone.
