EDITORIAL

10 years and +

Clemax Couto Sant'Anna¹, Marilene Crispino R. Santos¹

After completing 10 years of Pediatric Residency in 2021, which were recorded in a well-documented e-book¹, one cycle has ended and another has begun. In a recent election we were reappointed to the position of editors. In the next four years there is a lot to do.

The great shock caused by the COVID-19 Pandemic, which is now dissipating, had repercussions in different ways on people's behavior and also on Medicine. In a short time, an unknown disease became the focus of interest of the scientific community. The high mortality rates in several countries, uncertainties in the level of care for critically ill patients, the search for protective equipment and efforts to develop several vaccines in various parts of the world, as well as denialist attitudes towards Pandemic prevention, will not be forgotten. Likewise, the response to these challenges, with greater or lesser success in several countries, was responsible for a great accumulation of knowledge. Magazines published in record time numerous articles about a new disease. RP has aligned itself in this effort and in the second half of 2021 we launched a special issue on pediatric aspects of interest in COVID-19. We understand that this contribution to medical knowledge will also be remembered later, someday, when the 20 years or 30 years of RP are completed...

Some goals have been outlined in the new editorial stage. The dissemination of articles through social media causes access to the magazine to increase. The internationalization of the journal and the implementation of the quality of articles accepted for publication are points of honor for the social body of RP. The search for new qualified indexing and greater speed in publications in continuous flow, cannot be considered goals, but inherent to the nature of the journal.

We wish to thank the Brazilian and foreign colleagues who have made great contributions to the editorial board of RP in these past 10 years. Some have said goodbye and others will replace them, throwing new blood into the future (which, by the way, has already begun!).
